Twitch

Dear Sir or Madam,

Hello my name is Alex Norton. I am seeking a Software Engineer position with Twitch. I graduated this May with a bachelor's degree in Computer Science and hands on experience with Ruby on Rails and Swift to create and implement web and mobile applications. Recently, I just finished my last semester of undergrad studying in Oxford, England.

Rather than me telling you what I have done, let me tell you what I can do for you. Hiring the wrong person wastes one of the most valuable resources to any human, time. As an employee, I want to learn from those more experienced than me and work with a team to understand and solve new challenges that will arise in the future. With every triumph comes a new challenge and every developer must be willing to adapt to any new challenges Twitch will face in the future. Whether that be grasping design principles or learn new frameworks, one must evolve to face mightier problems.

Recently, I developed an iOS app for my university to update users of the upcoming buses and stop locations. In collaboration with the bus company, they were able to supply the bus schedule information for me to construct a database in Core Data and query it in an MVC model. I learned a lot during this project such as how to use NSConstraints, UIKit, multiple threads, and object oriented design.

Lastly, let me state next that I truly love what I do. In my spare time I make YouTube videos of programming tips that I learn. These videos help me stay focused on what I am learning in class and help me review later on. Doing this has allowed to interact with other aspiring programmers around the world and help them learn to code. What draws me to programming is that sort of interaction. When you are on your computer you can be a superhero. You can move things around the world, make people laugh, and change society all at your fingertips.

I am very interested in working for Twitch and would like the opportunity to discuss a position with you. My resume is enclosed. I will contact you in a week to ten days to answer any questions you may have. Thank you for your consideration. I look forward to speaking to you about this opportunity.

Sincerely,

Alex 'A.J' Norton
